introduction

The following description merges astrophysical data at the moment of new Moon with archetypal patterns garnered from astrological correlations which are then harmonized with the premise that Creator's infinite perfection is first, has been first and always will be first. All is perfection.

The balance and harmony during moment of new Moon has the potential to manifest Joy in our lives as we allow ourselves to be our own authority. During new Moon how we reflect on who we are and our I Am merge. This creates opportunities to initiate new beginnings.

Through the clarity of my mind I connect and communicate with others, knowing WE ARE ONE and their presence like my own is the presence of Creator. The teacher within me awakens and boldly holds the intention to be in the loop of Creator's awareness. The strength to remember who I am manifests through my ability to own my emotional reactions. Since I am impeccable at being my own authority, I am, as my God Spirit self, the architect of my experience. As we listen, speak, and share our experience with each other we are quick to find the spiritual reason behind our immediate responsibilities as these selfless duties and our attention to them is the purification of humanities truth about who we are. I am committed to remembering who I am as a God Spirit being in human form.

To access the opportunities of new Moon energy you must be clear about being your own authority. When it comes to your own healing and awakening know that you must do it your self. Move into a state of self responsibility. There are things you have to do yourself, no one else can take your hand and fix certain things. These things are set-ups designed to show you your power to balance and harmonize your living dynamics by accepting them as your creations. The part of you who is absolutely clear that you create your own reality, who knows that life is a mirror, is the part of you who can ride this rainbow of energy with willful expression, holding frequency intention enthusiastically and joyously through to manifestation. Your sense of magnified self acceptance will serve you well during new Moon period.

general description

01 Self concept, either our own or that of another, has many layers, a history of experience is implied in who we think we are now. We may be aware of the tip of the iceberg yet much of the self concepts our own emotional reactions imply lie buried and hidden beneath a rationalizing ego. There is much drama in our own inner hormonal truth, this drama is the meeting place of the ego's agenda and the innate organic truth of the bio human.

02 As always the Moon marks a moment of new beginnings. New Moon in the mental air sign Gemini makes for opportunities for new beginnings in how we keep the frequency of our self admiration by paying attention to how flexible we can be in our communication while maintaining a sovereign self knowing. If there are things occurring in our relating experiences which are causing some feelings to rise affecting our mental centeredness we can look to larger underlining transits which they merge with and ride upon. Venus in Leo joins Saturn which has been in Leo since May 2005 and will remain in Leo until early fall. For those of us who are clear about being employed by Spirit then this Saturn transit through Leo will likely correlate with such a self image restructuring. When we add to the mix the Neptune in Aquarius opposition to Saturn we can see that opposition becomes a divine complement where our intention to merge with and be valuable to Spirit affects our external reality, our life lifestyle. If there is a residue of denial in relationship issues the Mercury square Juno will flesh those out for us.

03 Paying attention to how we feel about what is said we create a pathway to our emotional intelligence which lies beneath the chin. Mercury in Cancer will square Juno in Libra. The quality of relationship harmony splashes up into the mind indicating the emotional edge of where expected harmony begins and ends. Like cliffs which define an ocean's edge, the terrain of how an individual conceives of their relating self is to be dynamically known when the tides rise and the surf meets the rocks. We can feel each others self concept by paying attention to the emotional intelligence which lies beneath the chin.

04 The restructuring of self admiration no matter what it is related to is occurring. Particular behavior linked to buried relationship issues, or buried authority issues, will bring things to the surface, fears and their associated reasoning can be experienced such that an evolving truth can be integrated. Once the issues surface they become emotionally known, they are available to be owned. Obviously the choice to own or not to own the experience as the reflection of one's current self knowing is up to the individual. Isn't freewill interesting? Once the issue becomes known we can see how the restructuring of our self image in order to become complete challenges us to identify how relationship harmony requires an external validation. Do we need to be validated by a boss or friend or spouse in order to love and admire ourselves? Anything less than impeccable self admiration will lead to blurriness, as in we are opposite Neptune here. Knowing we are holographic beings having a temporal experience re-calibrates the whole entire drama.

05 As the ocean's tide ebbs and splashes on the cliffs of our own self admiration and the layered sediments/sentiments of our own rocky edge is washed clean so do we see ourselves. It is the emotional intelligence of the will, the heart that is our authentic sovereign self.

06 Seeking appreciation by demonstrating with others that we prioritize harmony can be seen as a set-up fleshing out layers of beliefs, beliefs which imply who we think we are. We facilitate harmony not by seeking appreciation for that harmony, we facilitate harmony by holding an intention to focus on what we have in common as opposed to what we do not. Commitments to evolving our sovereignty as a first or major priority for our current local human experience triggers dramas which when owned with impeccability takes us into the depths of our buried self concepts, and here our reiteration of our self concept frees our essence, we become ecstatic. We are thus able to hold and carry more light, and become the epitome of allowing compassion and peace, inspiring authenticity in ourselves and others. This is the accolade of ownership. How audacious you are when you take responsibility for whatever situation you find yourself within.

07 Venus as the ruler of Libra will be in Leo and will color Juno's current expectation of sharing appreciation. A relationship partner may not be comfortable with the type or style of self admiration their partner is implying for them because this implication of projected self admiring does not allow enough space for their own personal version of authenticity to completely blossom in their shared relating experience.

08 How we act with others, how we imply harmony, how we perceive harmony, these hows act as if something has been accepted as a truth. Our beliefs, our notions about how relationship functions harmoniously are shown to us by our actions during a relating moment. Since we have been experiencing Juno in Libra going back to October of 2006 this particular Moon cycle will potentially bring forward the ramifications of inappropriately conceived harmony acted upon since then. This can show up in any type of relating experience. If an emotional back wash occupies mental attention due to lack of authentic harmony in a relating experience we may be directed by our feelings back to the fall of 2006 or early 2007 to recovery our sovereignty.

09 During all these years of our current human sojourn all our answers may have amounted to a hill of beans. This is where the Moon has done a wonderful service, it allowed us to construct a hill of beans. Eventually we want to get hungry and dig in, feast and consume what lies beneath the rationalizations. Maintaining a hill of beans can be emotionally draining, keeping track of all that memorized data. If we allow our selves to experience our rationalization by feeling out their source, by journeying into the depths of our being we just may discover a banquet of essence, a celebration awaiting our courage to own our magnificence. Meanwhile Uranus the denial exterminator is upping the anti. The divine plan is alive and well, our codes are being charged and fired left right and center. We are scheduled to arrive, we are scheduled to dine to celebrate, we are scheduled to awaken.

10 As we approach finer orders of light comprehension by identifying the holographic presence of divine congruency we begin to identify the fairy tales and stories which filled the gap between an expanded knowing and the hang over of historic paradigms. Stories and tales were necessary to hold us over, to protect our innocence. A stork story or a cabbage patch story was created to appease an inquisitive young mind who was pondering where their baby brother or baby sister came from. Stories filled the space. In a de-evolved state we could not make the connection, we could not make sense of vaster truth. Just like this young child was told where babies come from we can begin to see what loving stories we were told and are told. We can embrace many false notions as being in fact lovingly constructed, and yet are they currently appropriate for us? Our innocence has a virgin type quality. Our innocence can be seen as a pool of creative energy, the stuff which can mold and form worlds. Isn't it reassuring to know this innocence was so lovingly protected, valued? The virgin type quality of this innocence suggests it is to be shared as a sensual experience embracing our evolved self, embracing our creative expanded authentic self. In these times sources of religious doctrine are being revealed like never before, what do you suppose that is all about? Long held beliefs are being challenged, in many cases destroyed, and at a rapid rate being discarded. Saturn remains in Leo once again and during this Moon cycle is going to come into opposition with a retrograde Neptune in Aquarius. Delusions can be felt. Our feeling capacity is very valuable. Can we achieve clarity by being prudent with our feelings? The reconstruction of our personal self image and the degree to which we can evolve ourselves as the local human will determine the quantity and quality of space we can make for our essence, our innocence. It is this essence which facilitates and allows us to experience and participate within the sensual reality of Gaia through ourselves as the local human.

11 Back in 1993 Neptune and Uranus came into conjunction three times in Capricorn. Ever since then rationalized paradigms have been challenged to remain sound, our world has become the hot bed for buzzing freedom inspired systems busters. Neptune and Uranus came into conjunction in Capricorn, we can playfully say they were having an executive business meeting. What were they intending? As we are on the eve right now of Pluto's ingress into Capricorn we will soon get to experience the changing of solid world infrastructure. We return to nurturing our own human roots, our blood our DNA. These things will take on an emotional importance to us. Since Uranus knows us as multi dimensional creatures and ignores our ignorance, ignores any distractions we might have as to our natural affiliation to Creator's freedom which we are all endowed with, we can call Uranus a denial exterminator. During the moment of this current new Moon the Sun and Moon will conjunct in Gemini, the ruling planet for Gemini is Mercury. Mercury will be in Cancer and will be in trine with the north node in Pisces. Uranus is currently in Pisces. Committed to get beyond the distractions of the linear logical mind, to take the wrapper off the idea and get into the essence of our experience we use our emotional intelligence, it's all about experience. The asteroid Pallas Athena will be in conjunction with Uranus in Pisces as well during the new Moon moment.

Our understanding of ourselves as emotional creatures will serve us well. Navigation of multi dimensional gateways can be intended into being, especially in the dream state. From a Pisces perspective we can say that life is a dream. We do not necessarily know we are dreaming until we become lucid, we say “oh my I was really out there, I was really distracted with an unresolved issue which was getting my emotional attention”. We can experience many notions and concepts of reality as logical mind distractions tying up our feeling self, tying up our spiritual self. As we except our emotional self as a valid self giving us the scoop we begin to trust our feelings and accessing what is. We are accessing what is from an evolved level of self knowing. This Moon cycle will give us a complete Mercury retrograde phase. This Moon cycle may give us a back wash of emotions, these emotions can be seen as essence which is insisting on being unwrapped, freed. We can choose to look beyond the logic and intend on being awake within the expanded moment.

12 As we evolve in self awareness many aspects of our lifestyle also evolve, its all apart of a grand multi-dimensional program. Our approaches and planning to anticipated experiences is affected, our comprehension of events is expanded, we pay attention to new and different frequencies of sensual data, we are aware of connections with Spirit, connections with animals and Gaia creatures. Our expanded sense of being encompasses and embraces larger vistas of what could be called typical experience, we are shown a larger picture of what we affect and what affects us. How is all of this allowed to occur? We are getting the knack of accepting our feelings as if our feelings are a form of intelligence, emotionally we are rich, priceless in a sense. Our rational process is merely the gift wrap of an essence interaction, the real gift is revealed to our spiritual self our emotional self. Emotional experience is no longer explained away as in question and answer scenarios, our emotional experience validates events and dramas from a holographic perspective which is a natural order of our existence. There is no answer because there is no question, our experience is honored for what it allows us to feel. As we establish degrees of holographic awareness as natural function we can look around and see how our attention is distracted by wrappers by thoughts notions and pat answers. Each of those digitized and stored answers requires a piece of our essence, eventually we get our fingers in a lot of pies, and yet do we have all the answers? Extrapolating our experience into rational concept by exercising liner logic has had a strong showing in our culture, education and even in our religions. Holographically we can read between the lines, we are able to move beyond a shoebox mentality of linear logic, we are able to fit ourselves into the holographic presence of the expanded moment. Pisces fills our world with emotional interconnection, everything knows about everything else, we can feel it. We flow with it, engage it, we are in it and it is in us, all is connected, nothing is separate.

13 With the new Moon in Gemini we want to look at the planetary ruler Mercury. Interestingly Mercury will do a complete retrograde dynamic this Moon cycle. During the moment of new Moon Mercury will be direct, it goes retrograde on June 15th and back to direct motion on July 9th. Retrograde Mercury will give us a back wash of thoughts ideas and communications, much of which can likely be connected to the last Moon cycle which began on May 16th. Emotional undones from the past will wash around in our mind seeking clarity and settlement. Since Mercury will retrograde in Cancer our mind may be seeking a clearer understanding of our feelings. If something was not feeling correct and was left as it was it may well return for a new emotional go round, especially after the Solstice June 21st when the Sun makes the ingress into Cancer.

14 When we speak about our experiences or write them, communicate them, our mind begins to headline our intimacy. When another hears about our experience they associate the dialogue or communication with their own feeling or emotional experience. Our thoughts or words are like a bridge. Since our experiences are intimate and personal a rationalized communicated version opens us up to interpretation where much can be lost in translation. We live another person's experience by placing ourselves in their drama as they set out explaining and describing their experience. In a sense we relive or create our own experience when we hear about another's. We may unknowingly make assumptions about their experience as we implant our experience into their words. Our words are also replaced with our listener's experience when we dialogue and share our experience with them. As people we may be feeling emotional creatures yet our reliance on our logical rational mind to comprehend experience renders us as mirrors where we simple reflect back to ourselves our own self experience, or imagined experience. Mental ideas, ideals, notions, memorized beliefs, act as a resource. At times we function like a librarian retrieving memories which are associations with what we are hearing or reading. Our words and phrases can be seen as labeled containers or wrappers which act as and represent an associated experience.

15 Self awareness which is harmonically congruent with our expanded authentic self manifests as integrity and will be acknowledged by Spirit. Authentic anticipation of such experiences signals and brings into order structures which have solid foundation and are fundamentally supported by other realms, by Spirit. We function as a team, team remember. Of course we will be expected to admit any dark cloud of pride and arrogance which blocks our road to a better more preferable future. The wimp factor which stifles and truncates male energy can be removed from our character during this dramatic time of self image reconstruction. Bold action and courageous acts will actually be the by product of experiencing an expanding self awareness as opposed to a self pushing self into terror land. Prudence focus and practicality are boosted with love and creativity, this is where self admiration can restate itself. New opportunities will tease and motivate creative inventive inspirations. We shine when our commitments are clearly defined, our light reaches through the cracks of ego conception meeting their counterparts, light meeting light and rejoicing just like at a family reunion. The truth of our commitment to evolve during our current human sojourn aligns us with a grand plan where many team up and cooperate with excitement and clearly defined purpose.

16 Tuning our sensuality to compassion and service through devotion yields much reward. Allowing our devotion to align to the truth of self mirroring brings great light into the body, love awakens the cells calling them to respond to our impeccable self leadership. When doing so causes another to be pulled into our reality toacerbate an unresolved issue, potentially interfering with our current intentions, we want to insure the issue gets serviced and integrated. By doing so our clarity will continue to rise. We want to be on the lookout for short circuits as repressed passions may block the gate to our personal euphoric experience. Sensuality stolen by self indulgence lacks the frequency of higher knowing which Sagittarius, the divine compliment to Gemini, radiates into our experience. For example we will be discerning as we consider plans which involve sharing our sensuality, sharing our values, or sharing our resources. Being prudent we can identify which self definition we are exploring and supporting.

28 day description

Each of the 28 days for the current Moon cycle is given a theme relating to the new Moon moment. Each theme is elaborated on creating a general description for the entire Moon cycle. The 28 new Moon themes is followed by 28 example intentions which are also congruent with the 28 day themes.

Day 1 June 14 2007 Thursday

It is up to us to decide what type of commitment we want to set out for ourselves.

Through our intention we are able to penetrate the membrane of thought and get an expanded holographic perspective as to what ideals are really about. Much fleshing out of what higher authorities are and the idea structures which have rationalized their way into our beliefs can be revealed. The collision between our thoughts and our pretense for harmony can also be evident as the mind is flooded with the emotional ramifications of holding onto belief structures which were supposed to keep our relationship in check. With the new Moon in Gemini and Mercury it's ruler doing a complete retrograde foray in Cancer we may be in for a thought rampage triggered by unresolved emotional sensitivities. It is up to us to decide what type of commitment we want to set out for ourselves. Drawing the lines around ourselves such that we are understanding the opportunities of admitting our denial can launch us into a grand merging with our celestial higher self while remaining lovingly entrained to our organic sensual connection with Gaia.

Day 2 June 20 2007 Wednesday

When people individually or collectively oppose or challenge our stance it is up to us to qualify our position within ourselves and decide if it is indeed correct for us to remain steadfast.

In order to put the icing on the cake of our restructured self image we have to be realistic to a degree which we may not have seen coming. In our interactions with others we are in contact with a diversity of opinions, these opinions can be measured or felt as degrees of validation implied in a person's actions. When people individually or collectively oppose or challenge our stance it is up to us to qualify our position within ourselves and decide if it is indeed correct for us to remain steadfast. Our ability to remain consistent in the face of external diverse beliefs of others can serve us well, especially if we are making powerful personal changes. If we remain consistent in our vision and intention and we are emotionally honest with ourselves something maybe coming our way which we did not necessarily see. To be steady within our vision and emotionally honest, opposition can prove opportunity. In this time of new beginning the formulas for our future begin as inspiration where this inspiration etherically etches a pathway for us, eventually the solid world cooperates, assuming we are able to remain consistent. In our consistency our actions may be outrageous or even stubborn to another yet if we are realistic about mass shared beliefs which we do not resonate with of course this projection would be directed at us, from a sense it is neither here nor there if we have been impeccable at owning our own denial.

Day 3 June 16 2007 Saturday

As humans we are sensitive emotional creatures, this can be seen and experienced as a wonderful thing.

Paying attention to our behavior can bring us to the observation that our rationalizations are being influenced by our feelings, affecting not only our thoughts but our communications as well. We enjoy doing nice things for others and when we can see there is sort of a buzz or high from being considerate and kind to another we can be sure that another who does something nice for us is getting a nice hit as well. When someone does a right thing for us it makes our life more pleasant, especially if they, in their cleverness, really hit the spot. What could be more perfect than such a win win situation. We can promote win win situations by acknowledging them immediately, by expressing a truth such as thanks, you just made my life a little easier. Acknowledging the good deed another does for us magnifies a relationship expanding the potential for more win win scenarios. As humans we are sensitive emotional creatures, this can be seen and experienced as a wonderful thing. When we understand who we are as emotional creatures, when we honor our emotions for their ability to inform us as to what is occurring holographically we come out of any stone person persona and get on with awakening. Our ability to access finer orders which make up and influence our solid world experience brings us together, we discover new ways of knowing and understanding ourselves. Kindness and acknowledgment become powerful management agendas which lead to magnified win win situations.

Day 4 June 17 2007 Sunday

Keeping the frequency of our intention and remaining nonchalant we confidently trust that an opening in the solid world will appear earmarked for our inspiration.

If our emotions are capturing our mental attention then we want to be pro active as opposed to reactive. As we reconsider our value to the public as in making career or professional adjustments we bring up and come more face to face with issues and contentions. As we experience more points of contention as we build and hold to our career objective we may discover some rather dispersed energy which exists in the external world. When we experience opposition in the form of dispersed or confused energy in the external world we are immediately prompted to look for a parallel within our own implied belief system. We may be expected to take an action under such an opposition which we would never have taken before, an action which epitomizes our own evolution. Our actions although new and pro active will have a particular quality which is indicative of the inspirational ease which seeded the current action initially. Keeping the frequency of our intention and remaining nonchalant we confidently trust that an opening in the solid world will appear earmarked for our inspiration. On a global level humanity has been shook up quite a bit in terms of religious beliefs where the version of both gods and leaders has been revisited revamped and in some cases discarded. Especially so in the last twelve or thirteen years. If we can acknowledge the amount of mental confusion which exist out their right now perhaps we can increase our own ability to be pro active, consistent, and decisive.

Day 5 June 28 2007 Monday

As we shine that Gemini Sun on our thoughts and ideas we get to see our own congruency as to how the ideals we hold onto fit into our self image.

There are many who can accept and embrace us as we imply and respond to our own evolving and changing self knowing. There can be those who resist our evolution, they may for example want us to remain in our old character, in many cases this is just not going to happen. Since we want to be pro active instead of reactive we need to be keen and quick at catching ourselves when another attempts or suggest something about who we are, something which we have clearly decided to no longer service. As we shine that Gemini Sun on our thoughts and ideas we get to see our own congruency as to how the ideals we hold onto fit into our self image. If we feel, as an example here, insulted, ignored, treated less than, then we are quick to own this reaction as an authentic summing up of what is still being held onto. Allowing our mind to be flooded with these emotions while remaining objective and divinely indifferent we get to see how rationalized ideas substitute for deeper truths, truths available to us through our ability to stretch emotionally. Once we begin reacting in perhaps a defensive way we are venting our energy. To instead be pro active we can spend some quite time with ourselves and get clear about our boundaries. Boundary clarity can include ownership of the old pattern but does not have to include excessive reaction to it. When we get clear about this in our personal quite time we hold our frequency very well during interactions which require our focus and prudence.

Day 6 June 19 2007 Tuesday

If we allow our expanded sense of being to guide us and influence us, if we trust in our expanded self we can allow a wider read of any situation which we are blessed to experience.

As apart of our evolving clarity we become more aware of what is going on around us. With this evolving awareness comes the personal responsibility of accepting what part we play in this energy nuance, what affect our attitude has. Each time we discover how we have been locked into frequency control by accepting a belief system which defines the nature of our world we can expand our vision and knowing as to the affect this belief has been having on our health and life style. We wear out old shoes just like we out grow beliefs. Our rationalizations can be seen as not only limiting but also as the cause of much emotional trauma and anxiety, accepting our expanded sense on the other hand busts the frequency control and the rationalizations. For example can we, from a rationalizing ego perspective, become all things to all people? If we allow our expanded sense of being to guide us and influence us, if we trust in our expanded self we can allow a wider read of any situation which we are blessed to experience. Also when we are working together as in a team our intentions and actions can be steered to a win win situation or interpretation more naturally just by keeping our finger on the pulse of emotional harmony. When it come to cooperation and harmony we are in the business of positive reinforcement.

Day 7 June 20 2007 Wednesday

People working with people benefit when resources are provided to each other in a cooperative manner.

Nature's natural order of hygiene manifests and functions within an all encompassing organic symbiosis. Our own human health as bio creatures is designed and intended by Gaia to be included in this natural order of hygiene. When we give our garden what it needs, what it benefits from, we assist it's flourishing and it's abundant experience as well as our own. People working with people also benefit when resources are provided to each other in a cooperative manner. The symbiosis of a team flourishes when cooperation is allowed and resources shared. We can be entrained to this group harmony by feeling the oneness of intention, by tuning into the nuance of target objective with our feelings and holding that space. Once we are able to hold that space, to feel the group objective we can begin to see how resources would be best shared. In larger expanded orders of people working together we can tune into the hygiene and health of the harmony of the team. As we expand our reach and perception of reality we feel and know expanded group harmony, we also feel the distractions which defuse focus away from harmony. Effective leadership will keep distraction to a minimum and hold the frequency intention of the group. As we explore our life style and health as both a society and as an individual we can see how notions and beliefs past and current distract us from keeping a common cohesive objective. In order to maintain a symbiotic harmony on many levels we can be expected to reiterate beliefs about social harmony and cooperation.

Day 8 June 21 2007 Thursday

When we wish upon a star things begin to happen on many layers or dimensions.

As the quality of our logic moves from a linear mode to a holographic mode we span a vaster panorama of experience. Our ability to increase our awareness epitomizes an order of thought which tunes and tracks mutual resonances connecting and paralleling realities through frequency congruency. Symbols when engaged holographically act as star mail collecting receiving and transmitting star messages. When we wish upon a star things begin to happen on many layers or dimensions. The natural process of feeling and intellectualizing becomes congruent and joy filled, our enthusiasm is rich, we are compassionately informed. Our temporal primordial self is reconnected to it's most basic source each year between vernal equinox and summer solstice. Our solar plexus area is experienced as our communication center and correlates with the quality of clarity in our mind as temporal data in made sense of. Our ability to be emotionally different allows our feelings to move freely keeping us informed. This emotional allowing allows us to step through the mirror of our projection and receive the nurturing energy of the Sun as we birth sovereignty during summer solstice. Evolving from linear to holographic logic correlates with an expanded cranial space, inner clicking and whirling accompanies an expanded ability to read and discern external dramas. As Pallas Athena conjuncts Uranus in Pisces our ability to acknowledge and accept the presence of Creator in all things takes us through the mirror of reflected self and into the realm of emotional intelligence where we experience our creativity as an intellectually indifferent inspirational flowering.

Day 9 June 22 2007 Friday

The idea or thought can be seen as the covering or wrapper for the body or essence which lives within the thought.

As our feelings flood into our mental attention we are able to access a finer order of understanding of our own ideas which we have presented to others and stood for. We may find ourselves reviewing our own logic. To embrace the emotional essence of each accepted logical notion as it returns to our emotional attention we may notice something very interesting, we are able to translate our thought into a form of music or dance. This occurs when we allow ourselves to muse at the feelings which ride along with the thought. The idea or thought can be seen as the covering or wrapper for the body or essence which lives within the thought. As we participate within the music of our notions and thoughts we bring up some interesting emotions. We may laugh at ourselves or cry, all the feeling dramas have an integral parallel to what is occurring cellularly. It is a wonderful thing to feel deeply and allow our healing to occur on these cellular levels. As we move this energy we are quite literally feeding our own birth, we are supporting the birth and growth of our own unique self.

Day 10 June 23 2007 Saturday

Today is a good day to acknowledge that we are employed by Spirit.

Personal evolution means breaking and busting old patterns, old patterns which imply who we believe ourselves to be. Although we may get some notion of our self knowing the major part, the larger has remained unknown to us, we are not aware that we do not know ourselves. In the process of personal evolution, or awakening, we bust and break patterns of behavior we have apparently become locked into for a long time. Standing at the threshold of a new, as yet undefined self, we are, to a certain extent, pattern less. As we introduce ourselves to the world, often taking a personal step forward in our self awareness, we begin to set-up a fresh new definition. In some cases we may dust off an old dream and have the old self knowing become new again, we feel reborn. Today we may feel confused or fuzzy about who we think we are, who we consider ourselves to be. If such is the case it is a good idea to remember we are holographic beings having a temporal experience, we are Spirit having a human experience. Including Spirit in our reforming restructuring self image will assist us, we will avoid being unclear and fuzzy about our image. Today is a good day to acknowledge that we are employed by Spirit if this feels appropriate for you.

Day 11 June 24 2007 Sunday

We are fleshing our behaviors which imply harmony, yet the harmony implied may not be up to date, in such a case we can be taken by surprise as to what is expected of us or what we expect from another in a relating situation.

As we acquire the skill of being pro active as opposed to being reactive we also acquire the skill of pre vision where we see the potential reactionary dramas coming. Our reactions are like energy bursts which seem to take over, take priority over our character, take over our better discernment. We can use our feeling center to head it off at the pass. As we move toward a galvanized sense of self admiration which includes an attitude of ownership we create sacred space with our intention. Ideas which are exciting have a place to formulate and catch us emotionally, we are inspired and fired up. So what is the reaction which precludes and wipes out any pro active intention? We are fleshing our behaviors which imply harmony, yet the harmony implied may not be up to date, in such a case we can be taken by surprise as to what is expected of us or what we expect from another in a relating situation. As we call for and create sacred space with our new Moon intention we are likely to consider our evolving self image and the value to Spirit and Gaia this self image implies. Our emotional self becomes enriched as inspirational tides rise, we are able to get into finer orders of clarity, to pierce the unknown. Our territory expands as our emotional stretch takes us into new places, places congruent with our intention. When we follow our sensitive emotional essence bravely and fearlessly we come face to face with self concepts we may have been unaware of.

Day 12 June 25 2007 Monday

To experience a new outcome from an old pattern we can expect to experience a new thought, a new emotion and a new sensual feeling as these three aspects of self are tied together through frequency symbiosis.

How much control can we have over the events in our lives? Being somewhat unaware of our own self imposed identity we become locked into certain modes of behavior. These modes of behavior can be seen as patterns of behavior which have a particular idea tag or rationalization, such a rationalization will imply a belief about reality. As personality patterns tagged with a rationalized idea we can also observe their correlating emotional experience and the correlating inner physical drama as well as the correlating external physical drama or body language. Just like an old vinyl record with a scratch on it we can skip back and repeat the same behavior over and over never moving forward missing an intended experience. New experience, new patterns of behavior can spring from old patterns. To experience a new outcome from an old pattern we can expect to experience a new thought, a new emotion and a new sensual feeling as these three aspects of self are tied together through frequency symbiosis. Freedom from old patterns means experiencing new versions, evolved versions of old patterns. Knowing this we can see it is not wise to judge or beat ourselves up for having an unresolved pattern in the first place. In stead we value our current patterns as places to begin our own personal evolution. Evolving an old pattern to a new experience is a euphoric experience, it releases emotions, feelings and objective thought, we expand our own mind and charge up our brain. We can identify our limitation as ripe for evolution by knowing the feeling of frustration we make frustration work for us by valuing the experience it brings us to feel.

Day 13 June 26 2007 Tuesday

To identify our emotional reactions over matters of who controls the money such that these patterns can be wiped out by a larger environmental issue we can be swiftly awakened to a call to planetary oneness. We do not need shock treatment to get our attention so that we will acknowledge Gaia on a daily basis, do we?

In the phrase blood is thicker than water we are reminded of an innate commitment to family. Our commitments to family can be experienced or validated by our own actions, actions which in the moment reveal a commitment which reaches deeply into our being. In the instance where a concerned parent will take actions for their children which they would not even do for themselves testifies to this innate deep felt impulse which charges into our life at a particular moment obliterating all previous sense of priority. Concerns over the price of domestic convenience or who last gassed up the family car become tiny and trivial when traumas of a life threatening nature bring our attention to a family member. As we consider this powerful conduit of energy and motivation which charges up through us we can take a moment to have a healthy respect to who we are as organic beings. We are all children of Gaia, she stands as the organic mother of us all, she gives us what we need to survive, she allows Spirit to have residence as human in her home. To identify our emotional reactions over matters of who controls the money such that these patterns can be wiped out by a larger environmental issue we can be swiftly awakened to a call to planetary oneness. We do not need shock treatment to get our attention so that we will acknowledge Gaia on a daily basis, do we? No one will ever love humanity the way the Earth does. There is great depth in Gaia's commitment to the harmony and enduring longevity which is extended to all her resident creatures.

Day 14 June 27 2007 Wednesday

Control over values which pertain to the solid world, values such as property, money or access to inventory, can bring up emotional dynamics which cause and motivate certain questionable actions in some people.

Emotional revisits to fairness can follow dynamics where another or others control the resources. Things which we put up with in the past are just not going to fly anymore, best we rewrite our own contract with ourselves as to what we are able to accept as fair or just. In the larger cycle of restructuring how we see ourselves we go through processes of checking out certain roles we can play and the character we have which can fit and play the role. Our value to the general public is epitomized by our career or profession and it is this life direction which is being sorted out on a larger community level as well as a personal level. Stepping up to the plate in our imagination is a good start and yet when we wear the self in the solid world we get a different scope and vantage point for us to experience and get real about our intended role. Control over values which pertain to the solid world, values such as property, money or access to inventory, can bring up emotional dynamics which cause and motivate certain questionable actions in some people. If we are indeed structuring and etching out a new self image to support our career potential it is best we are prudent in these early beginning stages taking into account the larger evolved meaning of who we are as spiritual holographic beings existing in a temporal time space world.

Day 15 June 28 2007 Thursday

Even though we create our own reality, events have a way of being different from the way we anticipated them, there is always a little something in there for us.

We can have a good laugh at ourselves when we make a wish, it comes to pass and the experience has aspects to it we just did not see coming. Even though we create our own reality, events have a way of being different from the way we anticipated them, there is always a little something in there for us. Our ideas and anticipations which chart out experiences and reflect where we place our authority can bring things to pass which are unexpected. The whole world can seem different from the stance of a newly reformed self, it's good to have a sense of humor. Our thoughts ideas and intentions during the new Moon itself will flow well with our consideration of remapping and recharting our career path, yet the outcome of what will soon transpire can be confusing if we expect everything to be completely predicable. When life is completely predicable there is no fun, so get ready for some laughs and fun if you are boldly etching out for yourself a new career path or restructuring a current one.

Day 16 June 29 2007 Friday

When attempting to please others is made a priority we potentially open ourselves to the judgement of others who react to our actions in a displeased way.

Identifying our own lack of decisiveness can indicate how we depend on external approval to qualify our intentions. Once we are aware and accepting of the belief that we create our own reality we can see Creator's justice at work as a process of self mirroring. What goes around come around. When attempting to please others is made a priority we potentially open ourselves to the judgement of others who can react to our actions in a displeased way. Holding the frequency of our intention means reducing wishy washy behavior, we become more decisive. This decisiveness is valuable to others because even though some may prefer a different intention from us at least they know clearly where we stand. When we decide to do one or two things really well we can avoid being distracted by endless minor issues which distract from our major objectives. If we are having emotional reactions because we feel we do not have enough time or energy to do all those tasks we can consider looking back to our major intentions and see where our feelings and concerns about what others will think has diffused our focus. To review our thoughts we follow an emotional thread, as it turns out this is emotionally connected to a grand tapestry, our thoughts on a larger social level can be understood as parallel and interweaving networks. As we explore the emotional realities of these thought tapestries we are able to grasp holographically a grander vista of a much larger social experience. From this vantage point we are able to justify our individual decisiveness.

Day 17 June 30 2007 Saturday

When we panic over deadlines or allow ourselves to be intimidated by so called authority figures we are playing right into a world which has been designed for us by those who believe they control it.

There are powers and forces which affect our reality and experience in a way which supercedes those energies who believe they maintain control over the shared world we know as our local and global community. The controllers know the ropes to a certain degree and have been able to amass much for themselves, at least in their terms. Much of the trickled down paradigms have a signature on them which presupposes an exaggerated concern over the apparent solid world. When we panic over deadlines or allow ourselves to be intimidated by so called authority figures we are playing right into a world which has been designed for us by those who believe they control it. Knowing we are Spirit having a human experience, knowing we are holographic beings having a temporal time space experience, we increase our scope and awareness as to what is going on here. Astro alignments correlate and parallel an unprecedented human awakening. We as Spirit having a human experience create a bridge between Heaven and Earth, we can feel this, we know that familiar exalted bliss, and this is what differentiates us from the self image which has been designed and pre packaged for us. It is our ability to read between the building blocks of the linear logical mind that gives us the scoop, it is our feelings and our emotional self which can stretch out accessing more of who we are. When our natural propensity to be free spirited is tethered we feel it, when it is our awareness and self love which accepts our creative power as the creative source of the tethers the controls become inconsequential as their existence becomes known thru correlation as opposed to cause.

Day 18 July 1 2007 Sunday

In a sense we are all becoming this new leader, in a sense we are all in teams, we are humans working together.

In the play of life we feel satisfaction and accomplishment as we keep our intention clear and distractions to minimum. If everything was easy our feeling of accomplishment would certainly be different, perhaps unknown. Team work is a wonderful and magical way to feel satisfaction, shared accomplishment, you just can't beat that! When we feel anxiety or pressure because our deadline looms perhaps we are being called to focus on the new qualities which define our new leadership character. Taking responsibility within a team effort we want to make sure everyone has a congruent picture of where we are going. A team which shares a clearly defined congruent picture of what is intended can now focus on what how resources for a project are considered and shared within the team environment. Team harmony and team congruency means we are able to conceive of our mutual oneness relative to our objective. Through mutual oneness within a team we share the feeling nuance, we know and assist the weak links, we are able to share resources, we make the best resources available to the unique task which would most benefit. As for those who are resculpting their self image and taking on the role of team leader a new way of accepting and receiving relevant data stretches out and embraces each individual they work with. In a sense we are all becoming this new leader, in a sense we are all in teams, we are humans working together.

We share as a grand team a compassionate oneness, we are in the business of compassionate memory recall.

Day 19 July 2 2007 Monday

Our notions of fellowship and harmony may be limiting our ability to resonate and merge with the presence of Creator's harmony, a harmony which exists always.

Decisiveness is a valuable asset which yields results for us, especially when we consider our behavior and it's deeper meanings. As we consider who we believe we are, we are wise to observe our actions and certainly our reactions to the daily dramas which greet us. Our reactions to restrictions indicate an objection to what we are apparently allowed or not allowed to do. Acquiring a manner for not complaining and instead owning a situation which triggers us keeps our window of opportunity open. We can create opportunities to be decisive as we pay attention to how a situation causes us to react. How harmony and fellowship is implied can describe our character as experienced by another. In ongoing relationship scenarios our behavior and harmony is somewhat predictable, we know each other to a certain degree. We create opportunities to be decisive when we trust our feeling reactions. If for example our freedoms seem to be impinged upon we can choose to be clear as to our beliefs which are being uncovered for us, our rational process can be decisively looked at and considered, perhaps adjusted. Being decisive in such a case we are able to ride an objective witnessing sense of self and discover new orders of compassion and love which we were in the past unaware of. Our notions of fellowship and harmony may be limiting our ability to resonate and merge with the presence of Creator's harmony, a harmony which exists always.

Day 20 July 3 2007 Tuesday

We are being drawn to our evolving self image, our value to Spirit, to Gaia. Our value to others increases as we become more proficient at holding frequency. Allowing ourselves to transform epitomizes a self acceptance which honors our ability to express and embrace our playful creativity.

An expanded awareness of our experience takes on a natural sense of emotional intelligence when we accept our circumstances as the manifestation of our creative presence in action. Our connection with Gaia is real and sensual, we are organic beings in terms of our sensual reality. In being made aware of the truth of our expanding self awareness we know when limitation and restriction is no longer to our liking. We are no longer willing to be owned and directed by paradigms which limit our ability to engage and connect more deeply with Gaia. Our sensual self has much excitement in store for us if we are capable of accepting sensuality without judgement. Our new Moon intentions can be shown to us today in an expanded light, our mind follows our feelings into deep caverns inside ourselves which we no longer fear. We bring with us a bright flame which flashes and lights up a stored vault of opportunity. We are being drawn to our evolving self image, our value to Spirit, to Gaia. Our value to others increases as we become more proficient at holding frequency. Allowing ourselves to transform epitomizes a self acceptance which honors our ability to express and embrace our playful creativity. As we accept our new founded self we are no longer distracted and consumed by old time beliefs which tether and limit our freedom to fly.

Day 21 July 4 2007 Wednesday

If others are speaking up we may be doing them and ourselves a service if we take the time to listen , doing so can calm them down if such feels necessary.

Our mind can be busy at work dealing with those emotional undones, this mental activity can parallel physical actions and motivations as well. Being able to identify the tethers which apparently limit our freedom to do completely as we choose can indeed motivate us. There may be some out there who have a lot to say. Being pro active as opposed to being reactive we can choose to be an active listener. Our ideas, our notions, can combine with fired up actions such as words spoken impulsively. Developing a pattern where we are accepting and embracing how we feel as a legitimate informative authority we acquire access to a vast perspective, we will no longer be in danger of acting from the chin up when our energy rises with a thought. If others are speaking up we may be doing them and ourselves a service if we take the time to listen , doing so can calm them down if such feels necessary. Sticking up for the underdog is done by honoring them and the experience they create for themselves as opposed to treating them like convenient victims giving the saving rescuer a place to jump in. We can be a hero by accepting our experience without question and paying attention to how the created experience has us feeling. As a by-product of respect and honor for the creative ability demonstrated by ourselves and others we may be heros of inspiration yet it is the knowing and remembering of Creator's perfection which resonates as peaceful nonchalance which is the real heroic action.

Day 22 July 5 2007 Thursday

The truth of our commitment and clarity is shown to us through the sacred space which is opened to us, a space which allows us to move our well meaning intentions into being in such away that many others are affected.

Dedicated and clearly committed to our awakening we are naturally entrained to a sense of compassion for all Gaia's creatures. The truth of our commitment and clarity is shown to us through the sacred space which is opened to us, a space which allows us to move our well meaning intentions into being in such away that many others are affected. We have a natural ability to read between the lines of typical rationalizations thus getting the bigger picture of what is occurring around us. We know what is going on because we can feel it. As we open the space with our compassion we are also allowed to be inventive, we are able to be inventive on a feeling level. We can show a form of kindness which is constructive and inventive, such as actively expressing acknowledgment and appreciation to others in a way which motivates them and ourselves.

Day 23 July 6 2007 Friday

When our actions are influenced by our sense of being considerate to others our plans are naturally tuned and adjusted to be in the flow of an evolving harmony and balance, the nuance of a grand sense of compassion for our life and experience in a shared world is supported.

Humanities natural propensity to selflessness shines through and gives us motivation and willingness to consider how our lives are naturally interdependent. When our actions are influenced by our sense of being considerate to others our plans are naturally tuned and adjusted to be in the flow of an evolving harmony and balance, the nuance of a grand sense of compassion for our life and experience in a shared world is supported. Our personal sense of dignity keeps us on track, we are able to avoid dispersing our energy and intention when we experience the emotional essence of larger social orders. We can move a lot of energy toward our intentions when we keep our dignity in tact while being considerate of others in our team or community. Opportunities and set-ups are organized for us on grander orders than what our ego can comprehend, and yet our ego can be aware of it's place within these grander schemes.

Day 24 July 7 2007 Saturday

Our ability to be pro active is the sign of drawing upon and actively moving into pathways which are supported by a team of evolving energies.

We want to check in with what motivates our impulses to take action. Many paradigms are being busted, their concept and rational are being superceded by a widening vaster perspective of how we understand ourselves. When impulses occur and we get charged up it behooves us to be in the moment, to consider what feeling is motivating the impulse. Even though we may have come to an evolved clarity, residues from the past can still be there in our psyche ready for yet another go round of denial. In such cases where we are charged and impulsed to take an aggressive action we can be clear with ourselves that we are going to be pro active as opposed to reactive. Our ability to be pro active is the sign of drawing upon and actively moving into pathways which are supported by a team of evolving energies.

Day 25 July 8 2007 Sunday

Who has time for boredom and complacency in these times of energy acceleration?

Sometimes we need a little boost to get us going, a kick start. Once we reach the light of our journey that boost will make sense to us, in the meantime an impulse may be necessary to get us to move. Who has time for boredom and complacency in these times of energy acceleration? If you are feeling energized, if you are feeling like you want to take some action, then you might want to consider some new approaches to taking action. For example we can sense a style or approach which feels right for interaction with whoever we are interacting with. Our ability to adapt to more styles may well have expanded recently, we may have acquired a propensity to harmony and cooperation which is ripe for manifestation within our team or group. Our ability to get a read on a group situation involving several others is indicative of our flexibility to work with each individual in a unique way.

Day 26 July 9 2007 Monday

We exude confidence when our common sense is simplistically obvious to others we work and communicate with.

Our state of common sense can be seen by others as the quality of our confidence. We exude confidence when our common sense is simplistically obvious to others we work and communicate with. Indecisiveness and confusion on the other hand can be interpreted as a lack of security, a loss of foundation. As we acquire and get comfortable with our ability we get a wider read on any situation we are able to quite simply trust our intuition, we know when to hold and when to move. Our common sense expands along with our personal self awareness, we exude confidence and energy.

Day 27 July 10 2007 Tuesday

Once we are able to feel authenticity right with ourselves we can see further into beliefs and notions as to how our self image fits into our sense of security.

During this Moon cycle our thinking can become more susceptible to our feeling, our feelings are able to get our mental attention more easily. Our mind can benefit greatly from this as we are able to feel between the lines of typical rationalizations simple by following our feeling reactions. Our feelings can pull us mentally into an awareness of expansion which is always available to us emotionally if and when we are able to slow or halt typical rationalizing. Our foundation when considered in a practical and solid way brings us to feelings of security, we have a sense of what is valuable to us in regards to security. Being without a sense of Spirit, being distracted from the spiritual essence of life, we can feel lost and directionless when it comes to securing values which satisfies our sense of foundation and security. As a natural phase of evolving and awakening we can at time become disoriented. In such cases we want to fine tune and look between the lines, we do this by trusting and following our feelings. Some self concepts are indeed on the chopping block and as they begin to fall away other portions of self, that which relates to security issues, can be affected. By registering the thought that a vaster more unlimited sense of being is being implanted an inner strength can be felt which allows us to keep an even balanced sense of self. Once we are able to feel authenticity right with ourselves we can see further into beliefs and notions as to how our self image fits into our sense of security. This is a good time to remain flexible and fluid allowing a collage of self images to present themselves over these next few days.

Day 28 July 11 2007 Wednesday

How does it all play together? An example of this magical essence of ours at work is how we can conceive of groups and team efforts in a unified manner, holographically we get the whole picture.

We may be reflecting on our own thoughts, our own choice of words which we have used to communicate since June 14th. We are indeed emotional creatures, it's as if the words and ideas are the wrapper or packaging shell which when unwrapped or opened up we find a contents which is received when recognized for it's holographic proportions. This new Moon in Gemini has a magical way of leading us to the vastness of our own compassion. We can see our thoughts as set-ups in their own right, like vectors they point us in the direction of an authenticity which is timeless within an expanded moment. How does it all play together? An example of this magical essence of ours at work is how we can conceive of groups and team efforts in a unified manner, holographically we get the whole picture. Our team and group efforts benefit from a holographic perspective as we are able to receive and share resources from a best allocation perspective.

Intentions

01 Entrained to the sensual harmonic of Gaia I am intending a merging with my celestial higher self. I allow myself to be a bridge between Heaven and Earth.

02 My steadfast attitude is qualified by my choice to own any denial I may have.

03 As the personal energy manager for myself I use kindness and acknowledgment when another gifts me consideration.

04 When I am triggered by confused energy which appears to exist in the external solid world I am immediate in my choice to be pro active as opposed to reactive.

05 I am centered in my self knowing, even when my emotional body is actively exploring the nooks and crannies of my many varied beliefs.

06 I am paying attention to the effect my attitude has on my automatic thought process.

07 I am able to tune into the feeling nuance of my team or group. I am supporting the symbiosis of my team by feeling its magical harmony.

08 I am stepping through the mirror of the reflected self, I am birthing a uniqueness which is my most authentic self.

09 I am moving my attention from thought to the emotional essence from which the thought springs.

10 I am willing to accept that I do not know what I do not know, I am willing to experience an undefined self.

11 I am feeling the integrity of my sacred space, I can feel events before they occur in the solid world.

12 I am able to be excited and ambitious in the face of challenge, I know there is an opportunity in there somewhere.

13 I acknowledge Gaia on a daily basis, I am committed to honoring her on a regular basis, I share my commitment with her, we are family.

14 What I have in the past feared I now am able to feel and look at. I am understanding more about my own security and about sharing resources.

15 I am prepared to have a good laugh at myself when my intentions manifest and reveal to me an aspect of my anticipated intention which I was not completely considering..

16 I am able to prioritize and be decisive.

17 I am able to be discerning as to which beliefs imply my holographic truth and which imply panic over security in an assumed solid world.

18 I feel the unified oneness of the group or team I am working with.

19 I am pro active and decisive.

20 I am embracing my value to others as I evolve my value to Spirit, Gaia and myself.

21 I am pro active as demonstrated in my ability to actively listen.

22 I am allowing my inventiveness to evolve compassionate proportions.

23 I am acknowledging humanities natural propensity to selflessness on a local and global level. We are one big symbiotic family.

24 When I am impulsed to take an action I remain in the expanded moment by feeling the grandness the impulse implies.

25 As I embrace, support and feel the integrity of group harmony I get a unique individualized read on how I am to interact with each individual while maintaining a sense of intention which unifies the group agenda.

26 My confidence is a reflection of the quality of my common sense.

27 As I remember to trust my feeling I able to read between the lines of the beliefs and paradigms which define the shared world of my group or community.

28 I am able to know my own authentic self within a team concept.
